THE MARK

Built on Hagalaz, the Elder Futhark rune for the "H" sound — two staves joined by a single diagonal. It already reads as a modern H without being redrawn to look like one.

HYBRID WORDMARK — USAGE RULE

- Hero contexts only (36px and above): website headers, banners, deck covers, cover pages — the Hagalaz H replaces the Latin H in "HYMDAL."
- Everything else: business cards, letterhead, email signatures, in-app UI, any small or dense placement — use the plain Space Grotesk wordmark. A stylized letterform is easiest to misread at small size.

CLEARSPACE & MINIMUM SIZE

- Maintain clearspace around the mark equal to the width of one stave on all sides. Do not shrink the icon mark below 16px — verify legibility at actual favicon size before shipping.
- Gold is an accent only — never body copy
- Don't recolor the mark outside navy/gold/frost/ink
- Don't stretch, rotate, or add drop shadows to the mark

VOICE

Grounded in the Heimdall myth: the herald who sees and hears first, and says something before being asked. Not a guard, not a watchman — foresight and clear communication, not defense.
